GHP Environmental + Architecture

We are experts in improving built environments. But our passion isn't just for the buildings—it's for the people in them. With architectural, environmental and construction services experts housed under one roof, we offer a uniquely cross-disciplined approach that allows clients to tackle a challenge or fulfill a vision from multiple angles.

Environmental expertise is in our blood. With a legacy that includes leading early science behind environmental hazards in buildings, we share your passion for ensuring your environments are protecting and serving your people.
